

On Board

(Created by Neil Mercer)

Boarding Rules:

- You must wait at the check-in desk until, "The doors are open!" call, at which point the timer will begin. The timer will stop when the last passenger is seated in their place (standing on his/her matching numbered disc).
- After picking up a numbered disc you must board the plane. Once on board you may not deplane or swap seat assignments (numbered discs) with anyone.
- You may only board the plane through the entrance and once aboard you may only move the length of the plane along the aisle or over into a row of seats.
- Once on the plane you may not pass anyone standing in the aisle.
- In the seat rows, you may walk past an empty seat (numbered disc) but you may not pass in front of an occupied one. Anyone in a seat (on a numbered disc) between you and your seat must step into the aisle so you can move to your seat.
- When everyone is "seated" and time has stopped, the seating order will be checked. Five seconds will be added to your overall time for each person who is out of place.

On Board

(Created by Neil Mercer)

Boarding Rules:

- You must wait at the check-in desk until, "The doors are open!" call, at which point the timer will begin. The timer will stop when the last passenger is seated in their place (standing on his/her matching numbered disc).
- After picking up a numbered disc you must board the plane. Once on board you may not deplane or swap seat assignments (numbered discs) with anyone.
- You may only board the plane through the entrance and once aboard you may only move the length of the plane along the aisle or over into a row of seats.
- Once on the plane you may not pass anyone standing in the aisle.
- In the seat rows, you may walk past an empty seat (numbered disc) but you may not pass in front of an occupied one. Anyone in a seat (on a numbered disc) between you and your seat must step into the aisle so you can move to your seat.
- When everyone is "seated" and time has stopped, the seating order will be checked. Five seconds will be added to your overall time for each person who is out of place.